ABOUT WORKSHOP

The 6th edition of the workshop New materials for electrochemical recognition of inorganic and biological species will be organized by the Romanian Society of Chemistry and the Politehnica University of Bucharest in collaboration with the Transilvania University of Brasov, ROMANIA. The program of this workshop will include plenary conferences, oral communications and a poster session. 2020 NOMARES Edition will take place within the 5th International Conference New Trends on Sensing-Monitoring-Telediagnosis for Life Sciences – NT SMT-LS 2020, on 3rd-4th July, 2020, on line format.

The official language of the workshop is French, but the contributions in English are also accepted.

SECTIONS

- (Tele)diagnosis, (Tele)monitoring and (Tele)management in Medicine
- New Trends in Nutritional Sciences and Food Control
- New Trends in (Bio)engineering Sciences Applied in Life Sciences
- Workshop NOMARES 2020 - 6^{ème} édition

INSTRUCTIONS FOR ABSTRACT PREPARATION

The abstract (1 page) will be written in French or English. The following instructions for paper (margin 3 cm, single space, Arial font) should be considered: title (size 14, bold, capitals), line spacing, author names underlying the presenting author (size 12), authors email address (size 12, italic), line spacing, the abstract (size 12), line spacing, references in the order of appearance (Arabic numbers in square brackets), acknowledgments (see template)

PUBLICATION

The participants are invited to publish their original work in French or English in the Scientific Bulletin-University Politehnica of Bucharest with the mention for Nomares workshop, after revision (www.scientificbulletin.upb.ro). There are also facilities for publishing in English in more specialized journals, following two-round revisions:

PRESENTATION

The conference will bring together Romanian and foreign universities and renown specialists of international and national scientific research, as well as scientific and professional organizations in online format. The conference is an opportunity to present new results, discussions and exchanges of experiences in (tele) diagnosis, monitoring and management in medicine, new trends in nutrition, food control and engineering applied to life sciences.

SMEs are invited to become sponsors of this international conference and to present their company's products, demonstrating their expertise and the excellence of their products.

We hope that our Conference will be a prestigious international event, which all participants will remember with emotion. However, we are aware that only your participation and involvement can guarantee this.

So we are looking forward to meet you online and have an excellent scientific experience!
